

The technical aspects, systems, and materials, their role in the implementation of design, and their impact on the environment.

The wide range of media (materials, devices, ideologies) used to communicate design ideas including wiring, speaking, drawing, and model making.